THE MAYO TRAIL GETS AID FROM JOHNSON COUNTY

$100,000 APPROPRIATED TO HELP THE STATE FINANCE THE PROJECT.

Johnson county on last Thursday followed the lead of Lawrence and voted to apply half of her bond issue on the Mayo Trail, using it to supplement State funds and thus enable the officials at Frankfort to get the available Federal aid.

$100,000.00 is the amount voted by the fiscal court of Johnson, this being one-half of their bond issue. The other half will be spent on roads crossing the county in the other direction.

Now For Floyd County.

Lawrence having appropriated her share, and Floyd having taken care of the road through her territory it is now up to Floyd county to do likewise and we have no doubt she will do so. Floyd is rich and able. She is developing rapidly and awakening to the necessity of roads.

Pike county has already indicated that she will do her part as soon as the counties below take favorable action. Floyd alone stands in the way, but has had no meeting of her court since Johnson and Lawrence came across.

Pike county gave $100,000 on the Pikeville-Williamson road last week and will meet the demands of Mayo Trail also. Pike is rolling in wealth and is getting to be enterprising in spirit.

Man Dead In Somerset May Be Sam Crabtree

Frankfort, Ky.—It is believed by the officials of the penitentiary that the dead man found on the railroad track near Somerset, Ky., is Sam Crabtree, a convict who escaped from the penitentiary last September while serving a seven-year sentence for housebreaking. The officials of Pulaski county requested that W. H. Moyers, superintendent, forward them the Bertillon measurements of Crabtree.

Somerset, Ky.—The body of a man which it is thought may be that of an escaped convict, was found by the side of the railroad tracks near here a week ago. It is supposed he was struck by a train during the night. The man had dark hair, sandy mustache and appeared to be about five feet ten inches in height, and 55 years old. He was very thin. His weight has been estimated at about 140 pounds. The body is being held for identification.

Rear End Collision at Catalpa Monday

On Monday evening a C. & O. train wreck occurred at the mouth of Blaine, seven miles below Louisa. A mallet engine pulling 65 cars of coal ran into the rear of a work train that was taking water at Catalpa. The caboose and three cars were demolished. The big locomotive and seven cars turned over. The engineer saved himself by jumping. The engineer struck by his post and crawled out from the wreck unhurt.

Brakeman W. Hunt, of Ashland, injured his knee in jumping from the train. The passenger trains transferred and the track was cleared about midnight.

HARBIN-WATSON REVIVAL NOW ON

The revival services at the M. E. Church South began last Sunday morning with a sermon by Rev. Walter Harbin, of Texas, a general evangelist. A large audience was present and his sermon made a very favorable impression. The singer, A. C. Watson, Jr., arrived Sunday evening, having missed a railroad connection, and took charge of the music that night. He has a good voice and is an excellent leader and a good helper.

Rev. Harbin has preached each afternoon and evening since Sunday and will continue to do so throughout this week and next. The attendance has been large at all night services and fairly good at the afternoon meetings.

There is not a dull moment in Mr. Harbin's sermons or in his services. He has a remarkably clean-cut style of conveying his message. He is fluent and forceful. Every sentence drives home a point. He has a rich fund of illustrations which give the necessary human interest touch to his sermons. A pleasing manner and the right amount of bubbling humor add to his attractiveness as a speaker, and at the same time show him to be an exemplification of what he preaches—the happy christian life.

Next Sunday afternoon, 2:30, a meeting will be held for men and boys over 13 years of age. Those who have heard Mr. Harbin preach are sure to be there, and all others should do so. An effort will be made to have 500 men and boys present.

E. J. PAYNE MARRIED IN WILLIAMSON, W. VA.

The Williamson (W. Va.) Republican says: Mr. E. J. Payne, of Louisa, Ky., and Miss Eva Wells, of St. Augustine, Fla., were united in the holy bonds of wedlock last Thursday, the ceremony taking place at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. J. F. Varney, Rev. Hall officiating. The groom is also the brother of Mrs. T. S. York and following the ceremony a reception was tendered the newlyweds at her home. Mr. Payne is a fireman on the C. & O. and they will make their home at Olive Hill, Ky.

MAYO TRAIL UNAFFECTED

Frankfort, Ky., January 4.—State Highway Commissioner Boggs stated today that the work on the Mayo Trail will not be handicapped by the recent opinion of the Court of Appeals to the effect that counties cannot lend money to the state, as the counties through which the trail passes are donating the road work. All the money donated by the counties will be matched by the Federal aid fund.

W. VA. SEMINARY BURNED.

The Lewisburg Seminary for Girls at Lewisburg, Greenbrier county, West Virginia, was destroyed by fire with a loss of approximately $100,000. Only four girls were in the building, and they escaped without difficulty. The seminary was controlled by the Greenbrier Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, South.

WEST VIRGINIA CAPITOL BURNS

ONE KILLED, SEVERAL HURT AND VALUABLE RECORDS LOST; AMMUNITION EXPLODES.

Charleston, W. Va.—The Capitol building of West Virginia was destroyed by fire late Monday. One laborer was killed, a fireman injured seriously and several other fire fighters hurt when a section of roof under which they were standing caved in. The spectacular nature of the fire was enhanced when much ammunition, stored on the third floor of the building, exploded.

Within four hours after the fire was discovered the Capitol building, containing the Governor's office, State Departments and priceless records, was nothing but a mass of smoking ruins.

State officials made no attempt to estimate the loss, but they said that the records destroyed, upon which no insurance was carried, could not be replaced, and that it was impossible to estimate their value.

Some State records were saved by clerks, officials and firemen, who carried them from the burning building.

The Capitol building, erected in 1881 at a cost of more than $400,000, is believed to have been the only brick capitol in the United States. State officials said that the building was valued at approximately $1,250,000.

Effort to Move Capitol.

Following reports from Clarksville that agitation has been started there for the removal of the capitol from Charleston state officials expressed their opinion that the seat of the state government will remain in Charleston. Governor Cornwell said there is no probability that the capitol will be removed. He intimated that he will recommend to the legislature when it convenes next week that provisions be made immediately for the construction of another building in Charleston.

Following the meeting of the board of public works, the committee appointed by that body to make provisions for the convening of the legislature, announced that the sessions of the houses will be held as planned on January 12.

The house of delegates will hold its sessions in the Baptist temple, adjoining the state grounds and the state senate will convene in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium adjoining the executive mansion.

Governor Cornwell speaks of the capitol fire as something "little short of a calamity," because of the destruction of records in the several departments. The extent of this damage cannot be ascertained until the vaults are opened and the condition of the contents disclosed.

The loss in money will not be heavy, the governor says, because of six million dollars of insurance carried in a blanket policy on all the state buildings.

Another Foreigner Gets Good State Appointment

Frankfort, Ky., January 1.—The State Board of Charities and Corrections today appointed Dr. Arthur Powelson, an official of the River Long Hospital of New Jersey, to be assistant physician at the Eastern State Hospital, to succeed the late Dr. S. L. Helm. Dr. Powelson has had 10 years experience with the New Jersey institution and 10 years experience with a hospital in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Mead have moved to Ashland. The apartment they occupied in the Walters building has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Picklesimer. We are informed that Robt. Castner and family will move into the house vacated by them.

A. C. Shannon, who has smallpox, is considerably improved.

RUSH THE ROAD TO MORGAN LINE WITHOUT DELAY

The next big enterprise ahead of the people of Lawrence county is the building of a good road from the county seat to the Morgan and Elliott county lines by way of Blaine town.

We say this is a job for the people of Lawrence county because in the building of the main thoroughfares there should be no division of effort or sentiment. All should pull together for the main roads. They can not all come at once, but all will be accomplished much sooner by harmonious effort than by dividing into factions. Local fights retard the general welfare of the county in all things. Let us try to keep a broader vision and a better spirit.

The situation at present is that we have a certain amount of the bond issue, voted by the people to be expended on the road to Blaine. We believe in keeping faith with the people in a matter of this kind. The Blaine road was one of four named in the court orders and in the campaign. The tremendous majority by which this bond issue carried leaves no room to doubt the will of our citizens.

The expenditure of this money should be carefully made. The fiscal court has authorized the employment of an engineer to locate the road. This is the proper step, and the engineer should be given a free hand in making the location. If competent and honest, the engineer will do the right thing. No other kind of man should be employed.

The advice of an engineer consulted about this matter is that what money we have for this route should be spent on drainage and permanent culverts, with whatever grading there is that demands immediate attention. The wisdom of such a course is apparent. Drainage is the first and last requirement of a good road.

Another very important move that should be started is to secure the strongest man possible as Representative in the Legislature from the Lawrence-Elliott district. The primary of next August will nominate and the Representative will be elected in November. He should be committed to devote his greatest efforts toward getting the Blaine road added to the State system, thus bringing State and Federal aid to it.

This is not a wild dream. It is entirely feasible, unless the present Federal law should be changed; but we should work for what is in sight, hoping this will not occur.

One strong argument is the fact that a Federal aid road in West Virginia comes to Fort Gay, just across the river from Louisa. This makes an interstate road. Extended through West Liberty and to a connection with the present State and Federal system it would be a very important inlet and outlet for a large territory otherwise inaccessible for general travel. Also, it would be the only cross route from the Big Sandy Valley directly toward the Bluegrass country.

The Point Route Also.

The other road specified in the bond issue election was up the Point to Martin county. The fiscal court included this in the order for employing an engineer. This road is entitled to the same consideration as the other routes named and should have the same careful attention. It is not as long or as difficult as the Blaine road. More will be said about it later.

HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE FRIDAY

YOUNG COUPLE JUST STARTING HOUSEKEEPING LOSE ALL THEIR FURNITURE.

A residence occupied by James Muncy and wife, in Italy addition to Louisa, was consumed by flames last Friday just before noon. Nothing was saved. The fire is believed to have started in the kitchen. There was no one at home and the flames had made their way into the front of the cottage when discovered by neighbors.

Mr. Muncy works at the bakery and Mrs. Muncy had gone to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Compton, an hour or more before the fire was discovered.

These young people were married a few months ago and had begun housekeeping only a few days before the fire occurred. Their friends had treated them to a shower or housewarming on the evening preceding the loss. All of the furniture and nice presents were lost. Jim is an industrious young man and much sympathy is expressed for him and his wife in this loss.

DOCK JORDAN, Supt.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS TO MEET IN FRANKFORT

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 30.—County superintendents will meet in Frankfort January 27 and 28. This meeting, called by the president of their association, Mrs. Nannie G. Faulconer, Fayette-co., will be the most important the superintendents have ever held, it is said, as it is the first since the Act of 1920, organizing county common schools into one district under nonpartisan boards of five, has been in operation. At the expiration of the terms of the incumbents the office of county superintendent will cease to be filled by elections and the new boards will appoint superintendents.

HERE FROM VIRGINIA.

L. A. Miller, of Glamorgan, Wise county, Virginia, was in Louisa Tuesday and called at the NEWS office to renew his subscription. He also ordered the paper sent to his brother, Curtis E. Miller, who lives in Phoenix, Arizona.

They are sons of E. C. Miller, of Glamorgan, who moved to this county to the Big Blaine section ten or twelve years ago. Mr. Miller was on his way to Columbus, Ohio, in the interest of his lumber business.

PIKE COUNTY MOONSHINE RAID.

Some deputy sheriffs from the Tug side of Pike county were here Sunday on their way to Pikeville. They had parts of a moonshine still captured in a raid.

KENTUCKY COAL INDUSTRY GAINS

OUTPUT IN 1920 IS 4,500,000 TONS GREATER THAN IN YEAR BEFORE.

Kentucky's greatest industry—production of coal—continued its marvelous growth in 1920. Output of the 881 mines aggregated 35,000,000 tons, according to an estimate made by Lawson Blenkinsopp, State Mine Inspector, from reports to his office at Frankfort. In 1919 31,500,000 tons were produced. Only four States exceeded Kentucky's output. They were: Illinois, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Without complete reports from 237 of the 881 mines, reports up to September 1, 1920, showed a production of 23,453,389 tons. In that period the leading producing counties were Pike, Harlan, Letcher, Muhlenberg and Hopkins. Floyd county in the eight months period this year produced 1,098,560 tons, with reports incomplete from 57 mines, compared with 1,004,631 for the entire year 1919.

The following figures show production in Eastern Kentucky counties for the first eight months of 1920 and the year 1919.

	1920 to Sept. 1	All of 1919
Breathitt	116,517	169,087
Morgan	37,287	51,103
Carter	155,590	187,734
Boyd	86,078	110,561
Lee	57,040	75,040
Bell	1,894,094	2,292,755
Harlan	2,844,618	2,176,866
Perry	1,774,392	2,201,178
Letcher	2,228,655	3,348,326
Floyd	1,098,560	1,004,631
Martin	23,877	52,430
Lawrence	16,266	52,430
Johnson	465,809	869,952
Pike	2,998,311	4,532,934

Growth of Industry.

Kentucky began producing coal in 1828, and records have been fairly well kept since that time. But in the 62 years from 1828 to 1890, the State produced a total of less than 100,000 tons of coal, by several millions, than the amount now mined in a single year. It now produces as much in two years as it did in the entire decade from 1898 to 1907, when 70,000,000 tons were lifted from the mines.

From 1911 to 1918, inclusive, eight years, the State produced 176,105,234 tons, as against 157,971,800 tons produced in the period from 1828 to 1910, inclusive.

It is said that the production would have been much larger, in both Eastern and Western fields, if the shipping facilities had been sufficient. The fact is that the allotment of cars was far below the capacity of the mines.

THE THREE MILE OIL FIELD COMING TO LIFE

The Wysser Oil company has drilled in a well on the Walbridge lands, five miles south of Louisa. It is reported to be a paying well and it is said other development will follow.

Near the location the first Berea well in Lawrence county was drilled in 11 years ago by A. C. Smith. This was followed by five or six other wells in that locality, most of which would now be valuable. But oil at that time was bringing only about one dollar per barrel and there was no pipe line. So the wells were abandoned. The casing was pulled from the first well.

A dry hole has been drilled on the land of Luther Pigg at Busseyville. The well on John Thompson's land at Elkins, drilled several months ago but not yet put to pumping, flowed a few days ago.

Muncy & Vanhose, contractors, are drilling on L. S. Alley's farm for the Ohio Fuel. All other drilling for this company has suspended.

OBSTRUCTIONS TO BE CLEARED FOR STREET PAVING

CITY COUNCIL ORDERS GAS AND SEWER LINES CHANGED BEFORE MARCH.

The City Council met Tuesday night. In addition to the usual routine business the following matters of general interest were acted upon.

J. L. Richmond, paving contractor, notified the council that he would have a steam shovel on the streets early in March and would proceed as rapidly as possible with the street paving called for by his contract, and urged them to have all pipe, sewers and other obstructions out of the way in order that there would be no delay in his work. Accordingly, the City Clerk was directed to notify the United Fuel Gas Company to begin work at once and get all lines and connections out of the way in time to avoid delaying the contractor.

The closing of Lock avenue and arranging a detour to take care of the traffic of that thoroughfare was ordered to be done by the improvement committee. Also, all trees and other obstructions were ordered removed at once to make way for the paving.

The improvement committee was ordered to examine the sprinkling plugs and the fire hydrants to ascertain those in working condition, with a view to making settlement according to the judgment of the County Court.

Building Roads Will Give Large Employment

The London report says that there are a million unemployed men in England and that fully three-fourths of them have families or others dependent upon them. The situation is described as being "most grave." The government has been appealed to for relief. The Labor party has asked the government either to find work for the unemployed or to pay each man forty shillings a week and each woman twenty-five shillings, with additional allowances for dependents. Reports say that the government plans soon to provide work for fifty to sixty thousand on public buildings and that the matter of further relief is under careful consideration. The number out of employment is rapidly growing in this country. One suggestion—and it seems to us to be a wise suggestion—is that large sums of money already appropriated for road-building be used all over the country at this time. The money is sufficient to put several hundred thousand men to work, and even if it costs a little more to build roads now than it will cost a little later it should not be put off, since men need work and the country needs the roads. The mild weather so far this winter has been a great blessing in keeping down fuel and clothing expenses, but everybody ought to be at work. Let's build roads.

COAL BUSINESS DULL.

The general slump in business and the extremely mild winter has put most of the coal mines out of business. Very few are running and all these are on part time only. Prices have gone below the point where operators can be charged with profiteering.

TROOPS SHOT AT FROM KENTUCKY

Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 3.—A detachment of Federal troops at Merri-mac, W. Va., in coal strike region, were fired on from the Kentucky mountains, according to information received by military headquarters shortly after noon today. The firing, which occurred yesterday, was returned by the soldiers. As far as could be learned there were no casualties.

The attack, it was said at headquarters, followed a disturbance in which several men, alleged to have been brought into the strike field for employment, were stoned. The superintendent of the White Star mine at Merri-mac, where the trouble occurred, said he knew the persons responsible and would swear out warrants.

Two mines, the Burnwell Coal & Coke company, at Springs, W. Va., and the Albion Coal corporation at McCarr, Ky., which have been idle since the strike began in July, resumed operations today, it was announced by the Williamson Coal Operators' Association.

David Robb of the United Mine Workers has received word from William Greene, secretary-treasurer of the union, that he is taking up with the Federal Government the alleged employment of miners through Federal Bureaus for work in the Mt. Gilead under misrepresentation. Greene has written Robb that he had been told a miner had been sent to Chattanooga, W. Va., through a Federal bureau, to the Louisa region where the representation that a strike had existed in the Mingo field but was settled last summer.

Robb also notified union officials in the Alabama strike fields that union miners from that region are being brought to the Tug river district under alleged misrepresentation. Robb declared that the Alabama miners were told there was employment here but each applicant must have a union card.

Several miners from Alabama were persuaded by union pickets to go to union fields in West Virginia and were given transportation to union mining towns today.

Farmers Reject Offers Made For Tobacco

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 4.—Farmers were hauling their tobacco away from warehouses and storing it in barns, and practically every market of importance in the central Kentucky tobacco region was closed tonight, in protest against low prices offered by buyers for this year's crop. The Lexington market was first closed until tomorrow, while a later announcement set January 11 as the date for reopening. Indications were that other markets would follow the lead of Lexington.

The Lexington market was closed after buyers refused to bid more than a fractional part of the amount the planters believed they ought to get for their tobacco. Some bids were as low as half a cent a pound for tobacco that sold at 75 cents per pound last season. The best grades of tobacco brought bids of only 3 cents a pound, compared with one dollar a pound one year ago.

State officials said that the building was valued at approximately $1,250,000.

Effort to Move Capitol.

Following reports from Clarksburg that agitation has been started there for the removal of the capitol from Charleston state officials expressed their opinion that the seat of the state government will remain in Charleston. Governor Cornwell said there is no probability that the capitol will be removed. He intimated that he will recommend to the legislature when it convenes next week that provisions be made immediately for the construction of another building in Charleston.

Following the meeting of the board of public works, the committee appointed by that body to make provisions for the convening of the legislature, announced that the sessions of the two houses will be held as planned on January 12.

The house of delegates will hold its sessions in the Baptist temple, adjoining the state grounds and the state senate will convene in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium adjoining the executive mansion.

Governor Cornwell speaks of the capitol fire as something "little short of a calamity," because of the destruction of records in the several departments. The extent of this damage cannot be ascertained until the vaults are opened and the condition of the contents disclosed.

The loss in money will not be heavy, the governor says, because of six million dollars of insurance carried in a blanket policy on all the state buildings.

Another Foreigner Gets Good State Appointment

Frankfort, Ky., January 1.—The State Board of Charities and Corrections today appointed Dr. Arthur Powell, an official of the River Long Hospital of New Jersey, to be assistant physician at the Eastern State Hospital, to succeed the late Dr. S. L. Helm. Dr. Powell has had 10 years experience with the New Jersey institution and 16 years experience with a hospital in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Mead have moved to Ashland. The apartment they occupied in the Walters building has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Picklesimer. They are informed that Robt. Castner and family will move into the house vacated by them.

A. C. Shannon, who has smallpox, is considerably improved.

RUSH THE ROAD TO MORGAN LINE WITHOUT DELAY

The next big enterprise ahead of the people of Lawrence county is the building of a good road from the county seat to the Morgan and Elliott county lines by way of Blaine town.

We say this is a job for the people of Lawrence county because in the building of the main thoroughfares there should be no division of effort or sentiment. All should pull together for the main road. They can not all come at once, but all will be accomplished much sooner by harmonious effort than by dividing into factions. Local fights retard the general welfare of the county in all things. Let us try to keep a broader vision and a better spirit.

The situation at present is that we have a certain amount of the bond issue, voted by the people to be expended on the road to Blaine. We believe in keeping faith with the people in a matter of this kind. The Blaine road was one of four named in the court orders and in the campaign. The tremendous majority by which this bond issue carried leaves no room to doubt the will of our citizens.

The expenditure of this money should be carefully made. The fiscal court has authorized the employment of an engineer to locate the road. This is the proper step, and the engineer should be given a free hand in making the location. If competent and honest, the engineer will do the right thing. No other kind of man should be employed.

The advice of an engineer consulted about this matter is that what money we have for this road should be spent on drainage and permanent culverts, with whatever grading there is that demands immediate attention. The wisdom of such a course is apparent. Drainage is the first and last requirement of a good road.

Another very important move that should be started is to secure the strongest man possible as Representative in the Legislature from the Lawrence-Elliott district. The primary of next August will nominate and the Representative will be elected in November. He should be committed to devote his greatest efforts toward getting the Blaine road added to the State system, thus bringing State and Federal aid to it.

This is not a wild dream. It is entirely feasible, unless the present Federal law should be changed; but we should work for what is in sight, hoping this will not occur.

One strong argument is the fact that a Federal aid road in West Virginia comes to Fort Gay, just across the river from Louisa. This makes an included line. Extended through West Liberty and to a connection with the present State and Federal system it would be a very important inlet and outlet for a large territory otherwise inaccessible for general travel. Also, it would be the only cross route from the Big Sandy Valley directly toward the Bluegrass country.

The Point Route Also.

The other road specified in the bond issue election was up the Point to Martin county. This fiscal court included this in the order for employing an engineer. This road is entitled to the same consideration as the other routes named and should have the same careful attention. It is not as long or as difficult as the Blaine road. More will be said about it later.

HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE FRIDAY

YOUNG COUPLE JUST STARTING HOUSEKEEPING LOSE ALL THEIR FURNITURE.

A residence occupied by James Muncy and wife, in Italy addition to Louisa, was consumed by flames last Friday just before noon. Nothing was saved. The fire is believed to have started in the kitchen. There was no one at home and the flames had made their way into the front of the cottage when discovered by neighbors.

Mr. Muncy works at the bakery and Mrs. Muncy had gone to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Compton, an hour or more before the fire was discovered.

These young people were married a few months ago and had begun housekeeping only a few days before the fire occurred. Their friends had treated them to a shower or housewarming on the evening preceding the loss. All of the furniture and nice presents were lost. Jim is an industrious young man and much sympathy is expressed for him and his wife in this loss.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS TO MEET IN FRANKFORT

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 30.—County superintendents will meet in Frankfort January 27 and 28. This meeting, called by the president of their association, Mrs. Nannie G. Fauconer, Fayette-co., will be the most important the superintendents have ever held. It is said, as it is the first since the Act of 1920, organizing county common schools into one district under nonpartisan boards of five, has been in operation. At the expiration of the terms of the incumbents, the office of county superintendent will cease to be filled by elections and the new boards will appoint superintendents.

HERE FROM VIRGINIA.

L. A. Miller, of Glamorgan, Wise county, Virginia, was in Louisa Tuesday and called at the NEWS office to renew his subscription. He also ordered the paper sent to his brother, Curtis E. Miller, who lives in Phoenix, Arizona.

They are sons of E. C. Miller, of Glamorgan, who moved to this county to the Big Blaine section ten or twelve years ago. Mr. Miller was on his way to Columbus, Ohio, in the interest of his lumber business.

PIKE COUNTY MOONSHINE RAID.

Some deputy sheriffs from the Tug side of Pike county were here Sunday on their way to Pikeville. They had parts of a moonshine still captured in a raid.

KENTUCKY COAL INDUSTRY GAINS

OUTPUT IN 1920 IS 4,500,000 TONS GREATER THAN IN YEAR BEFORE.

Kentucky's greatest industry—production of coal—continued its marvelous growth in 1920. Output of the 881 mines aggregated 35,000,000 tons, according to an estimate made by Lexington, State Mine Inspector, from reports to his office at Frankfort. In 1919 31,530,000 tons were produced. Only four States exceeded Kentucky's output. They were: Illinois, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Without complete reports from 227 of the 881 mines, reports up to September 1, 1920, showed a production of 33,453,389 tons. In that period the leading producing counties were Pike, Harlan, Letcher, Muhlenberg and Hopkins. Floyd county in the eight months period this year produced 1,098,560 tons, with reports incomplete from 57 mines, compared with 1,004,631 for the entire year 1919.

The following figures show production in Eastern Kentucky counties for the first eight months of 1920 and the year 1919.

	1920 to Sept. 1	All of 1919
Breathitt	116,517	169,087
Morgan	37,287	51,103
Carter	155,590	187,734
Goyd	88,073	110,561
Lee	57,040
Bell	1,894,094	2,292,755
Harlan	2,844,618	3,176,856
Perry	1,774,393	2,201,178
Letcher	2,228,655	3,348,326
Floyd	1,098,560	1,004,631
Martin	23,877
Lawrence	16,266	52,430
Johnson	465,809	869,952
Pike	2,998,311	4,532,934

Growth of Industry.

Kentucky began producing coal in 1828, and records have been fairly well kept since that time. But in the 62 years from 1828 to 1890, the State produced a total of less than 100,000 tons of coal, or a few millions, than the amount now mined in a single year. It now produces as much in two years as it did in the entire period from 1828 to 1890, when 70,000,000 tons were lifted from the mines.

From 1911 to 1918, inclusive, eight years, the State produced 176,105,234 tons, as against 157,971,800 tons produced in the period from 1828 to 1910, inclusive.

It is said that the production would have been much larger, in both Eastern and Western fields, if the shipping facilities had been sufficient. The fact is that the allotment of cars was far below the capacity of the mines.

THE THREE MILE OIL FIELD COMING TO LIFE

The Wysox Oil company has drilled in a well on the Walbridge lands, five miles south of Louisa. It is reported to be a paying well and it is said other development will follow.

Near the location the first Berea well in Lawrence county was brought in 11 years ago by A. C. Smith. This was followed by five or six other wells in that locality, most of which would now be valuable. But oil at that time was bringing only about one dollar per barrel and there was no pipe line. So the wells were abandoned. The casing was pulled from the first well.

A dry hole has been drilled on the land of Luther Pigg at Bueseyville. The well on John Thompson's land at Ellen, drilled several months ago, but not yet put to pumping, flowed a few days ago.

Muncy & Vanhousen, contractors, are drilling on L. S. Alley's farm for the Ohio Fuel. All other drilling for this company has suspended.

OBSTRUCTIONS TO BE CLEARED FOR STREET PAVING

CITY COUNCIL ORDERS GAS AND SEWER LINES CHANGED BEFORE MARCH.

The City Council met Tuesday night. In addition to the usual routine business the following matters of general interest were acted upon.

J. L. Richmond, paving contractor, notified the council that he would have a steam shovel on the streets early in March and would proceed as rapidly as possible with the street paving called for by his contract, and urged them to have all pipe, sewers and other obstructions out of the way in order that there would be no delay in his work. Accordingly, the City Clerk was directed to notify the United Fuel Gas Company to begin work at once and get all lines and connections out of the way in time to avoid delaying the contractor.

The closing of Lock avenue and arranging a detour to take care of the traffic of that thoroughfare was ordered to be done by the improvement committee. Also, all trees and other obstructions were ordered removed at once to make way for the paving.

The improvement committee was ordered to examine the sprinkling plugs and the fire hydrants to ascertain those in working condition, with a view to making settlement according to the judgment of the County Court.

Building Roads Will Give Large Employment

The London report says that there are a million unemployed men in England and that fully three-fourths of them have families or others dependent upon them. The situation is described as being "most grave." The government has been appealed to for relief. The Labor party has asked the government either to find work for the unemployed or to pay each man forty shillings a week and each woman twenty-five shillings, with additional allowances for dependents. Reports say that the government plans soon to provide work for fifty to sixty thousand on public buildings and that the matter of further relief is under careful consideration. The number out of employment is rapidly growing in this country. One suggestion—and it seems to us to be a wise suggestion—is that large sums of money already appropriated for road-building be used all over the country at this time. The money is sufficient to put several hundred thousand men to work, and even if it costs a little more to build roads now than it will cost a little later it should not be put off, since men need the work and the country needs the roads. The mild weather so far this winter has been a great blessing in keeping down fuel and clothing expenses, but everybody ought to be at work. Let's build roads.

J. B. PETERS SELLS STORE AND RESIDENCE TO R. C. BURTON AND J. L. MOORE.

A trade of considerable magnitude took place in Louisa Wednesday when R. C. Burton and J. L. Moore, purchased the hardware store and residence property of J. B. Peters and son on Lock avenue. They are now in possession of the stock and will take charge of the business at once.

Both are experienced merchants and good citizens. Mr. Burton was formerly in the grocery business here and Mr. Moore recently sold a general merchandising business at Fuller station. Mr. Moore will occupy the residence. Mr. Burton owns and occupies a home on Franklin street.

It is reported that Mr. Peters may move to Florida, his health having been not very good. He and his family have many friends here who would regret to see them leave Louisa.

COAL BUSINESS DULL.

The general slump in business and the extremely mild winter has put most of the coal mines out of business. Very few are running and all these are on part time only. Prices have gone below the point where operators can be charged with profiteering.

TROOPS SHOT AT FROM KENTUCKY

Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 3.—A detachment of Federal troops at Merriam, W. Va., in coal strike region, were fired on from the Kentucky mountains, according to information received by military headquarters shortly after noon to-day. The firing, which occurred yesterday, was returned by the soldiers. As far as could be learned there were no casualties.

The attack, it was said at headquarters, followed a disturbance in which several men, alleged to have been brought into the strike field for employment, were stoned. The superintendent of the White Star mine at Merriam, where the trouble occurred, said he knew the persons responsible and would swear out warrants.

Two mines, the Burnwell Coal & Coke company, at Sprigg, W. Va., and the Albion Coal corporation at McCurtain, Ky., which have been idle since the strike began in July, resumed operations to-day, it was announced by the Williamson Coal Operators' Association.

David Robb of the United Mine Workers has received word from William Greene, secretary-treasurer of the union, that he is taking up with the Federal Government the alleged employment of miners through Federal Bureau for work in the Mt. Gilead under misrepresentation. Greene has written Robb that he had been told a minor had been sent to Chattanooga, W. Va., through a Federal bureau at Louisville under the representation that a strike had existed in the Mingo field but was settled last summer.

Robb also notified union officials in the Alabama strike fields that union miners from that region are being brought to the Tug river district under alleged misrepresentation. Robb declared that the Alabama miners were told there was employment here but each applicant must have a union card. Several miners from Alabama were persuaded by union picks to go to union fields in West Virginia and were given transportation to union mining towns to-day.

Farmers Reject Offers Made For Tobacco

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 4.—Farmers were hauling their tobacco away from warehouses and storing it in barns, and practically every market of importance in the central Kentucky tobacco region was closed tonight, in protest against low prices offered by buyers for this year's crop. The Lexington market was first closed until tomorrow, while a later announcement set January 11 as the date for reopening. Indications were that other markets would follow the lead of Lexington.

The Lexington market, was closed after buyers refused to bid more than a fractional part of the amount the planters believed they ought to get for their tobacco. Some bids were as low as half a cent a pound for tobacco that sold at 75 cents per pound last season. The best grades of tobacco brought bids of only 3 cents a pound, compared with one dollar a pound one year ago.

A very large number of students arrived this week and the school is busy in all departments.

City of Paintsville in the Grip of Oil Fever

CITY RESEMBLES TULSA IN EARLY DAYS OF BOOM; RIGS JAM JOHNSON ROADS.

(The following article was published in the Courier-Journal a few weeks ago. It is one of a series of articles by Mr. Wallace, of the editorial staff. We are a little late in publishing it, owing to the crowded condition of our columns, but it will be read with interest by those who have not seen it.)

Paintsville, Ky.—Oil excitement in Paintsville makes this already solidly prosperous mountain city resemble Tulsa in the early period of the oil boom in Oklahoma. Paintsville is the gateway to the great Johnson and Magoffin county oil fields.

The first thing that strikes the eye of the newly arrived in Paintsville is the spectacle of teams of oxen hauling oil rigs through the streets to the fields in which wells are being drilled. These oxen are of the type which were seen commonly in the logging camps of Western Kentucky thirty years ago. Some of them are "big horns" whose appearance indicates clearly their inheritance of the blood of the Spanish cattle which contribute the bulls used in the rings of Madrid and Seville.

The "sows," as they are called in cowboy lingo, are not a native product. They have been brought in for use where the ground is too soft for mule or horse teams to work satisfactorily and where there are no roads over which trucks could haul the heavy materials used in drilling for oil. Some of them are from Texas, where they have been in use for the same purpose.

A team consists of eight or nine "yoke" of cattle, sixteen or eighteen oxen. The owners rent them for $8 per yoke per day. Thus a team costs the oil man $64 or $72 a day. Many loads must be hauled before the entire rig for one drilling operation is on the ground. Often the distance is such that only one load a day can be made with oxen.

Drilling Well Expensive.

Drilling a well is expensive. I am told that it costs about $5,000 on the average to send the drilling bit down to the Berea sand, about 1,000 feet below the surface. If a dry hole results someone or some stock company is out that much. In this field the probability of dry holes is said by oil men to be remote. Sensational wells have not yet come in, but substantial producers are flowing.

A lawyer here had a farm a little way out of Paintsville, worth about $2,000. He leased half of it. Oil in paying flow was struck. He leased the other half for a royalty on each barrel plus a bonus of $6,000 for permitting wells to be drilled on his property at a cost of $5,000 each to the drillers.

A group of Paintsville men chipped in and bought a 265-acre tract for $4,000. A well was drilled. It proved to be a producer. The tract was sold for $350,000. One man who put in only $100 drew out $7,500 after paying his share of the expenses of development.

A single investor, a former Paducahan who had not been well-to-do before the deal in oil land, took 55 per cent of the investment of $4,000 and drew out 55 per cent of the $350,000, less the comparatively small expense of drilling the well.

A tract of less than nineteen acres developed in June and July by a group of Paintsville men and now is producing a well makes it a fortune.

The afternoon of my arrival, a well was being drilled the drilling near completion, about a quarter of a mile from the business center of Paintsville. Persons in automobiles, women footing it along the dusty roads with babies in their arms, boys, oil prospectors, land owners, holders of leases, were trooping to the scene of the drilling to stand in the broiling sun, unaware of its heat, to await the last stroke of the drill which then was punching through the shale 1,655 feet below the surface. Everyone is interested intensely in everyone's well. Results are awaited with the tense excitement that marks the mood of the crowd at Churchill Downs when the Kentucky Derby is being run.

Maps in Hotel Studied.

In the hotel lobbies hang large maps of a considerable portion of Johnson county showing each farm and its ownership and whether it has been let on lease to an oil company. Men standing on chairs with their fingers on the map commenting on the situation in this and that part of the county are discussing oil in the manner in which the "forty-niners" must have discussed gold. And when oil is struck it is quite as good as gold.

I am told of a man who procured a lease for $8,000 and was offered almost immediately $100,000 for his rights. He refused the offer.

Johnson county was a steady producer of a high-grade domestic coal for a good many years before the oil boom began. The coal still is going out on a basis of handsome profit to producers, but oil here and in Magoffin county is monopolizing everyone's attention.

It is pleasing to find that the native population—Kentuckians who have come here and Paintsville men who have lived here all of their lives—are getting profits out of oil. The farmers of this oil region have not been as easily persuaded to let go their lands without a real profit—as most Kentucky owners of coal lands were years ago when great coal tracts were acquired by Eastern interests.

Paintsville Feels Development.

Paintsville, already a city of brick streets and numerous handsome homes, including the residence which the late John C. Mayo built when he had become a millionaire coal king, is feeling in every kind of business the influence of oil development. A bank which had deposits of less than $200,000 at the end of the year 1919 now has deposits of more than $400,000, representing mainly small deposits by business establishments and individuals. Another bank which carried in June $1,400,000 in round numbers, now has deposits of $1,650,000. Acreage which used to sell at a very low agricultural value, timbering being about over, now is on a basis of from $25 to $1,000.

Some investigators predict greater results here than in the Lee county field where acreage has gone as high as $30,000. A lease on a 65-acre farm brought $100,000 recently. A year ago only one well had been drilled. Nowadays there is a traffic jam of oil rigs between Paintsville and the Oil Springs field. Fifty or sixty wells are being drilled. There is a demand for teams, laborers, contractors greater than the supply. All barns are full and both cattle and horses are in camps. The various machines and materials which enter into the composition of a drilling outfit are stacked high about the railroad station awaiting delivery.

What Paintsville may become within ten years is easily foretold by oil enthusiasts. It will be another Tulsa. Even a stranger within the gates, and not in an oil deal, can foresee a huge development in this field.

TUSCOLA

The New Year was ushered in weeping but smiled pleasantly before the day was over only to weep again before the day closed.

It seems odd to us to write 1921 after we had formed the habit of writing 1920. Then the sum of 1921 gives us the unlucky 13. We are not superstitious and do not expect anything in the way of war or pestilence to visit us this year.

The year is full of hope and possibilities to everyone that will put forth the effort to gain success. We must work out our salvation.

The new year has brought the usual annual moving. It reminds us of the Methodist conference assigning circuits to its ministers—always changing.

Arch Murphy moved last week from Geo. Calvin's farm to J. K. Woods' farm on Spring creek.

Green Jordan moved from Glenwood to Geo. Calvin's farm.

Jasper Triplett moved from West Virginia to near Hicksville.

There will be plenty of renters this year as men are hunting for farms to rent.

Oil news of general interest seems scarce just now.

Farmers are not done gathering corn and the yield and quality are excellent.

Some of our tobacco growers have shipped their tobacco but as far as we have been informed they haven't received their returns on it.

Some have sold at a very low price rather than take chances on the market.

School closed at Green Valley Friday with an entertainment given by the school. A large number was present and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

There will be a winter school at Baker beginning the 17 inst. Isaac Cunningham teacher.

A. R. Friend and H. A. Jordan were at Grayson last week looking after the interest of their tobacco.

Fred Vanhorn has been moving his plunder and some of his household goods to Carter county.

We are very sorry to see them leave as the county has no better citizens than Fred Vanhorn and wife and William Adkins and wife.

5 FLEE HARLAN CONVICT CAMP.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 18.—J. T. Royalty, superintendent of the suspended convict road camp, was suspended today for failure to report promptly the escape of five prisoners.

A thorough investigation has been launched by William Moyer, warden of the Frankfort Reformatory, who today sent four additional guards to the prison camp.

Three of the five prisoners, who escaped Wednesday night by breaking a lock on the prison house door, have been recaptured and were brought back to Frankfort today. They were Ben Johnson and James McKay, Louisville, and Lee Walker, Perry county, all negroes. They were apprehended by Chief of Police Halcomb at Lynch.

News of the escape was not received until today. D. W. Middleton, one of the guards on duty at night, has resigned.

Royalty succeeded John Marcum, who was discharged following evidence of laxness at the camp at the inquiry into the murder of Miss Lura Parsons.

ORANGE-CRUSH VINDICATED.

An inadvertent injustice to Orange-Crush has been corrected. In The Literary Digest of October 30, 1920, an editorial comment mistakenly stated the following:

"Orangeade and 'orange crush' that never came nearer to an orange than the tanks of a synthetic chemical laboratory are no longer to be served under those names with Uncle Sam's permission."

When the real facts about Orange-Crush were explained to the publishers of The Literary Digest, the injustice of the article was immediately apparent to them, and they readily agreed to print a correction, which appeared in the December 4th issue, on page 31. This correction is reproduced below:

"A reference was made in our article of October 30 to 'orange crush' as made in a synthetic laboratory, and we further said that it was no longer to be served under this name with the Government's permission. This statement we wish to correct. Ward's Orange Crush, which is the only orange drink marketed under the trade-name 'crush,' is, as per their label, composed of orange-oil, citric acid, orange juice, pure granulated can-sugar and water, and colored with United States certified food color."

LUKE McLUKE SAYS:

A woman has to have a sharp tongue to get a word in edgewise when three other women are talking.

The reason she is known as a Belle is because you never know she has a Tongue until after you have given her a Ring.

If Friend Husband acts real penitent and brings her a nice present Friend Wife will forgive him for the mean things she said and did to him. The reason why a man acts like he was the Whole House when his wife has company is because he is going to act like he is the Door Mat when the company leaves.

Of course it is none of our business. But no woman who has ankles like knees has any business wearing short skirts.

A WOMAN'S BACK

THE ADVICE OF THIS LOUISA WOMAN IS OF CERTAIN VALUE.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Oft times 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Louisa women know this. Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. M. J. Dunagan, Lock Ave., says: "It's been about two years since I treated with Doan's Kidney Pills and I was so well pleased with the results that I can recommend them to others. At that time my back ached and there was a constant weakness through the center of my back. I had a dizzy feeling come over me every now and then, too. My kidneys weren't acting regularly and, in many ways, showed signs of disorder. I got to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills and used two boxes. They rid me of my trouble entirely."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dunagan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce CHARLEY EDWARDS as a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Court Clerk of Lawrence county at the primary to be held in August, 1921.

Friday, January 7, 1921.

Be thankful you are paying an income tax to Uncle Sam and not an indemnity to William Hohenzollern.

We published last week an article from the Courier-Journal demanding prosecution of the election frauds in Eastern Kentucky, which is altogether a proper demand. But the same demand should be made in regard to Louisville, Covington, Newport, Lexington and perhaps other places in Kentucky where flagrant violations of the election law occur every year. If all were as clean as Lawrence county elections there would be no cause for complaint.

A dispatch from Marion, Ohio, to the daily newspapers says Senator Chas. Curtis, Republican "whip" of the United States Senate, will introduce a bill amending the Federal Reserve system. He had been in conference with Mr. Harding when the announcement was made. The amendment, or rather the "death blow" to this greatest of all our laws, provides for doing away with the twelve regional banks and substituting one "central bank".

This means returning the control of money into the hands of the bunch of pirates commonly known as "Wall Street" vultures. It means a return to normalcy. It means the end of safety from panics.

Before the Federal reserve system came into effect, the twelve thousand banks of the United States were forced to keep reserves in certain authorized banks in New York city, giving those banks such enormous and dependable deposits that they ruled and owned big business, manipulated markets, crushed competitors, staged panics, purchased elections, and committed all sorts of acts detrimental to public welfare.

The 12 Federal banks took this power away from New York bankers. Now each district handles its own money, paying no tribute to New York. The dead money tied up in reserves has been released to the extent of one-half or more of the former amount. Panics are impossible. Money is flexible in supply, instead of the opposite condition under the old law which made it to contract when expansion was needed and to expand when contraction should have occurred.

New it is proposed to centralize money control at one point instead of twelve, with one board of directors instead of twelve boards. These directors will be named by the power behind the throne. Instead of twelve boards distributed throughout twelve districts, each board composed of farmers, commercial men and bankers equally divided, we are threatened with one central board of directors, doubtless to be composed entirely of bankers.

No greater calamity could befall this country from a business standpoint. The people must send up such a protest that Congress will be afraid to perpetrate this demand of the bosses. The people can scare Congress into doing right if they will assert themselves. Otherwise the chances are not good.

Gov. Cox and others warned the people on this matter, knowing the men who were fighting to get hold of the government. But the voters failed to see the danger.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS:

When a girl is taking Vocal Instructions she calls her howling "Technic." But that isn't what the neighbors call it.

A Preacher advises girls to marry plain, ordinary men. Huh! That is the only kind they have been marrying as far back as we can remember.

A Woman has to give up her Name when she marries. All that a man has to give up when he marries is the right to think for himself.

A Fortune Teller will get a woman to tell all she knows about herself. And then the woman will think it wonderful how the Fortune Teller knows so much about her past.

To make a woman happy you'll have to permit her to choose her own way of being unhappy.

If a woman can't find anything else to do the chances are that she'll start in and make a Crazy Quilt for an Insane Asylum.

A man is inclined to doubt the story of Jonah and the Whale until he gets seasick himself.

A woman's idea of the way to make up for lost time is to spend two hours in front of her dresser mirror.

A man gets a yen that he can't live without a girl. Then he married her and discovers that he can.

About the time a boy gets so old that he doesn't have to ask his Mother if he can go out at night he has to ask his Wife if he can go out at night.

Annual Meeting Stockholders

The Lawrence County Farm Loan Association will meet at its office in the Louisville National Bank, Louisville, Ky., on Tuesday, January 11, 1921, at one o'clock p. m., to elect directors for the ensuing year.

January 15. Been resting quietly for a week. The first few nights after the first of this year my owner read me regularly, but he has forgotten me, I guess.

February 2. Clean up. I was dusted with other things and put back in my place.

February 8. Owner used me for a short time after dinner, looking up a few references. Went to Sunday school. March 17. Clean up. Dusting and in my old place again. Have been down in the lower hall since Sunday.

April 2. Busy day. Owner led League meeting and had to look up references. He had an awful time finding one, thought it was right there in its place all the time.

May 5. In grandma's lap all afternoon. She is here on a visit. She let a teardrop fall on Colossians ii. 5-7.

May 6. In grandma's lap again this afternoon. She spent most of her time on 1 Corinthians xiii and the last four verses of the fifteenth chapter.

May 7, 8, 9. In grandma's lap every afternoon now. It's a comfortable spot. Sometimes she reads to me and sometimes she talks to me.

May 10. Grandma gone. Back in the old place. She kissed me good-by.

June 2. Had a couple of four-leaf clovers stuck in me to-day.

July 1. Packed in a trunk with clothes and other things. Off on a vacation, I guess.

July 7. Still in the trunk, though nearly everything else has been taken out.

July 15. Home again and in my old place. Quite a journey, though I did not see why I went.

August 1. Rather stuffy and hot. Have two magazines, a novel, and an old hat on top of me. Wish they would take them off.

September 5. Clean up. Dusting and set right again.

September 10. Used by Mary a few moments to-day. She was writing a letter to a friend whose brother had died and she wanted an appropriate verse.

September 30. Clean up again. King's Business.

Religion and Prosperity.

In an address at the Central Y. M. C. A., Philadelphia, Roger W. Babson, founder and president of the Babson Statistical Organization, Wellesley Hill, Boston, recently said: "Civilization and business are both based on the fact that men trust each other. Man was not civilized until he could trust his fellows, and man could not conduct business until he could trust his associates. But it is man's religion that makes him worthy of trust. Religion, therefore, gives us safety in business. And more than this it is the source of inspiration in business. It causes men to develop and create. Periods of prosperity are due entirely to man's better individual outlook on life. And when we have an exceptionally prosperous period we can be sure that it is caused by one of two things. Either man's outlook has been changed by suffering or, as it usually is, it has been changed by religion." These observations are most interesting. More and more is the worth of Christianity in all the affairs of life being recognized. The Church is gaining ground.

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH.

Watch night services had a large attendance. The program was carried out practically as announced last week. Neil Plummer substituted very nicely for one of the musical numbers with a cornet solo. All the young people did well with their parts, under the direction of Prof. Saucier. The addresses were all interesting and the devotional exercises were entered into with proper spirit. The bell rang out the old year and greeted the new, and the meeting came to a close. The sandwiches and coffee served in the basement by the ladies about 11 o'clock were greatly enjoyed.

A committee headed by Rev. R. J. Yoak came over from Barboursville, W. Va., Saturday to inspect our church building. They are preparing to build a new church.

A general and hearty invitation is extended to everybody to come out to the revival meetings every afternoon at 2:30 and evening at 7 o'clock. You will enjoy the preaching. Nothing better has been heard in Louisville.

FORT GAY, W. VA.

As the old year has passed away and gone and we are entering into another new year will write a few lines to the Big Sandy News as it has a welcome in every home in the Sandy valley.

Rev. Lawrence Dickerson of Chelsea, Ohio, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Fort Gay and Louisville returned to his home last week. He was a native of Wayne county but left in 1886. People of Fort Gay were certainly glad to have Rev. Dickerson and wife with them again. He preached a very interesting sermon at Baptist church.

Rev. B. L. Reed and wife have just returned from a two weeks visit with friends and relatives at Portsmouth and Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Addie Price returned home Wednesday from a few days' visit with friends and relatives in Catlettsburg and Ashland.

Glad to say that little John Hardin is better at this writing.

Sorry to say that uncle Richard Wellman of this place has passed away from this world to be with Jesus. He died last Sunday morning at the home of Mary Welch after about 2 months of great suffering. The Lord transferred his life from this world to be with Jesus. He said before he died that he was ready to go any time the Master called for him.

Mr. Wellman was a citizen of Wayne county and had lived a long life. He was taken to Paintsville, Ky., Sunday for burial by the side of his wife who died about three years ago.

To the friends and relatives weep not for uncle Richard for he has gone where there will be no more suffering or sorrow and where God wipes away all tears from our eyes.

IN MEMORY OF G. S. WILSON.

The death angel has entered our home and taken the one we loved and worshipped. Papa is just sleeping, as he often said "My body of clay will be on the hill, but my spirit will be with my loved ones always." It often runs through our minds why our loved ones are taken, but all we can say, God saw fit to take them home.

He had got so much better and went from room to room. Oh, we all thought we were going to keep him with us for a long, long while yet, but God saw in another way. He was taken back again on Thanksgiving. Oh, his suffering was intense, but he bore it all with Christian fortitude and his dear face was the face of an angel through it all. The day he died he looked up to those that were standing over him and said, "Oh only anything to get home for I can not stand this suffering much longer."

We want to thank the friends both near and far for the love and kindness and the loving hands that administered to him to the end and the beautiful flowers. We just can not express our thanks. Also Dr. Bromley and Dr. Wolfman for what they did. Bros. Akers and Anderson for their loving words and comfort. Bro. Anderson was with him so much through his sickness. May God bless him for his love and kindness. Also the undertaker for what he did. Oh, we never will forget his attending physicians, Drs. Sparks and Holbrook. The nights never got too dark or cold or days too bad for them to come at a call. With kind words and a smile they always greeted him. Papa would always say, "They are so good." May God bless them in their noble work as the prayer from the family.

All is dark within dwelling.
Lonely is our lot today.
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away
THE HEART-BROKEN FAMILY.

If that is said of you, you may cheerfully forego any other praise, for you have the highest, the greatest compliment that can be paid a woman. It is so easy to be pretty—almost anyone with a little cleverness can be called good looking, but Style makes one woman stand out above all others in a large gathering—it makes her distinctive.

ELLIOTT BURGESS

DIES, AGE 92

Elliott Burgess, one of the oldest citizens in the Big Sandy Valley, died on the 29th day of December, 1920, at the home of his adopted son, Mr. Sam King a highly respected citizen of Johnson county. The deceased was 91 years, 4 months and two days old. His remains were brought to Kise, his old home, for interment, December 31. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Bryan, of Fort Gay, W. Va., and Rev. A. H. Miller. By request of the deceased, in his lifetime, his funeral was preached by Rev. Bryan. The funeral was held at the home of the deceased's brother, G. C. Burgess, in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

The funeral service was beautiful and impressive. Two of the favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by the congregation—"Jesus Lover of my Soul," and "Nearer My God to Thee," after which Bro. Miller read the 91st Psalm, and then offered a fervent prayer. Rev. Bryan selected for his text the 21st verse of the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians, "For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead." The funeral discourse was eloquent and touching, eulogizing the life and character of the deceased and was just such a funeral service, I believe, that Uncle Elliott would have directed, had he had an opportunity to order it.

He had been a devout member of the M. E. Church for fifty years or more. Deeply religious by nature, the church and preacher found in him at all times a hearty co-worker. He was a good husband and neighbor; the distressed, the unfortunate, the sick, found in him a ready and helpful friend, and most of his life being prosperous, his hand from the needy was never withheld. He was buried in the family burying ground on the hilltop overlooking the old homestead where he was born and reared; was the oldest of a family of twelve children, all of whom are dead but three; and as we looked upon his face for the last time, and knowing how full of faith he was, we could better know the truth of the scripture, "Though I was through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me." —A. O. C.

Notice to Teachers and Citizens of Lawrence Co.

I wish to answer some questions that have been asked me concerning the new school law and I take this method of answering through the columns of this paper.

Law Affecting Teachers Certificates.
After July 1, 1922, all persons applying for a first class elementary certificate must have had at least one year of high school and five weeks in State Normal or some other school recognized by State Board of Education.

After July 1, 1924, two years high school and ten weeks Normal training, and after July 1, 1926, four years high school and 20 weeks normal.

To obtain second grade elementary certificate requires only an average of 75 per cent not less than 60 per cent on any branch. High school and professional training is not required for a second grade.

The fee for admission to all examinations is $2.00. All papers are sent to State Board to be graded and the certificate qualifies the applicant to teach anywhere in the State in common schools.

Trustees for sub-districts are appointed by the Board of Education and the duty of trustees is to look after the needs of the school, sign teachers' monthly and annual reports. He has nothing to do in hiring teachers only in a suggestive way.

Appointment of Teachers for 1921.
Upon the recommendation of the County Supt., the Board appoints all teachers and they are placed in the various schools by the County Supt. on the approval of the Board of Education. In applying for a school the teacher would apply to the Board through the County Supt.

County Diploma Examination.
There are two examinations each year. The first one is held the last Friday and Saturday in January, and the second one is held the second Friday and Saturday in May. These diplomas entitle the holder to free tuition in the Louisa High School if the holder is under 18 years of age.

TOBACCO MARKET NOT GOOD.

Lexington, Ky., January 3.—With bids approximately 50 per cent less than were made for the same types of leaf last season, the burley tobacco market opened to-day in Lexington.

"I am surprised and disappointed at the prices," James C. Stone, President of the Warehousemen's Association, stated to-night.

In all 412,305 pounds were sold for a total of $84,270.51, making an average on the amount sold of $20.44. In considering this average, however, warehousemen pointed out that this included only the offerings which brought better prices, as 133,000 pounds were held, the bids being rejected.

The highest basket was sold by Brown & Bibson for 69 cents.

Mrs. T. S. McClure who has been confined to her home by illness the past few weeks, was taken to a hospital in Ashland Wednesday for treatment. She was accompanied by Mrs. McClure and Dr. H. H. Holbrook.

Mountain Mothers Are Pictured in an Eastern Journal

HOW WE APPEAR TO THE "FUR-INER" WHO COMES AMONG US.

The outside world that so long depended upon John Fox, Jr., stories for its impression of the mountain people is rapidly changing its mind in regard to this very important element of our population. The mountain people in the past have been isolated from the rest of the world. Their means were meager of learning anything of what was going on in the world outside of their mountain walls. On the other hand, owing to the lack of inducements that would attract the outer world to them and thus bring them into contact with other people, the world has been ignorant of them as they have been of the world outside.

But times have changed. The vast beds of coal that underlie the mountains have brought into them millions of dollars of capital and thousands of people from the outside. Instead of finding the mountaineer to be an animal with hoofs and horns, these people have found him to be of the genus homo who has been fighting to preserve what civilization has given, under very adverse circumstances. Instead of being the morose character who would for the very joy of it shoot his neighbor from behind some tree and, before he was fit to mix and mingle with civilized people, had to undergo a course of heroic treatment at the hands of some supermen from the outside, as a rule, are hospitable and are willing to grasp every opportunity to better their conditions. We have our criminal element who kill sometimes, moonshine, bootleg and rob, but the percentage of this element when compared to the whole population is not as large as it will be found in New York, Chicago or any other of the great centers of population.

The outside world is finding this to be a fact and the articles published in our magazines, instead of being lurid pictures as in the past of the barbarity of the mountain people, are now more fair to them. As an example, we are quoting from "Mountain Mothers," written by Winifred Kirkland, appearing in the November issue of the Ladies Home Journal.

Stressing the need of a better understanding of the mountain people, the author writes: "Among our many plans for Americanism, I wish the first might be the Americanizing of Americans by introducing them to each other. And it is not the men that I would introduce either, but the mothers, and especially the mountain mothers. But the fundamental trouble in such 'getting together' would be that all mothers, to be known, should be seen at home, and above all, they should be met in their setting in order to be appreciated."

Alluding to the war efforts of the mountain mother, she continues: "I shall always remember the railroad way stations in 1917, with their groups of mountain boys going off to war. In Northern villages there were hands playing and crowds shouting goodby, but not here. Lithe, sunburned children of the woods, the boys were, who had never before been ten miles from home, and yet who gave themselves, and their mothers gave them, with an unquestioning dogged courage.

"It's terrible for a mother," said, "but his country needs him," and then with a gleam of pride, "he sure can shoot straight. I reckon them Germans will find that out."

The mountain man can shoot "straight," and often because it was his own mother who taught him along with other "straight" things.

As to the much exaggerated ignorance of the mountain women, the author says:

"It is not because of her ignorance, but because of her knowledge, that I wish that I could take some other mothers that I know—restless mothers, worried mothers, puzzled mothers—to visit some one of the mountain mothers that I know. There is much that some of the rest of us might learn from sitting on cabin doorsteps, for if we others are superior to the mountain women in, say, sanitation, we are too often inferior to her in sanity."

Describing the mountain children in their mountain home, she says: "There is a sound to which the mountains have accustomed me—the sharp jolting thud when a mountain mother, if she possesses neither cradle nor rocker, puts her baby to sleep by jerking forward and backward on two legs of a straight chair. It is a rough lullaby, but it does not seem to hurt the baby any more than his being nursed about once every twenty minutes. As we sit there the youngsters will come swarming, bright-eyed, quick and shy as squirrels. They peer from out the dusky doorway. Some little face, beautiful as a baby's face, peeps from a frame of rhododendron. The smaller children wear but a single garment, an apron that buttons up the back, revealing a sturdy little body well nourished on corn bread and buttermilk. There is usually some two year old lying fast asleep on the bed just inside the door or on the porch floor, plump and brown as a bun."

With what should be constructive criticism, the writer continues: "Mountain children are as vigorous as baby oaks until they reach their teens, and then overwork begins to tell on growing bodies. A ready boy of thirteen, just beginning to stretch to the length of spine and limb that characterizes the mountaineer, often gets a stoop that he never afterwards conquers. Little sisters, who from the time they are four years old 'tote' the babies, often grow up without any reserve of strength. Little boys and girls must, of course, help in the cornfields, hoeing long hours in the hot sun during the short strenuous season. An eight-year-old urchin tells me proudly that this is his third summer hoeing corn."

The writer emphasizes the mountaineer's love of beauty. She takes the most ignorant specimen of mountain motherhood and reveals that even she can be "aroused by the call of beauty."

"My husband has choplin at the first clearin' two miles from here, and he's plumb crazy over the yaller lady slippers up that-a-way. He's been a-sayin' I must take the two least (youngest-kids, what aint never seed sech, and go up there and see 'em 'fore they was gone. So yesterday we went. It sure was some climb over them old logs, but, gosh—them lady slippers was wuth it."

One of the greatest characteristics in the mountain mother is her ambition to educate her children. She is very often so hampered that she cannot do this fully, but it is the great ambition of her life. No one can come in contact with them without noticing it. The writer is no exception to the rule.

"A few miles out in the country, I often stop to see another wide-awake home-maker, Mrs. Morgan, with her three youngsters and her big husband in the roomy old farmhouse, behind the fragrant sprawling boxwood bushes. Whatever her farm work, every morning Mrs. Morgan has lesson hours for her two little boys because the village school is too far away. Such eager readers, these two little boys are. One who has the joy of giving books to mountain children has the reward of seeing tousled heads bowed in utter abandon over the page, and small bare toes twisting in appreciation."

Another odd custom of the mountains is that, while the woman very often aids the man in the work in the fields, the man, as a rule, does none of the housework. The writer only found one man who did.

"Aunt Sabina Strout is not a feminist, nor is her big gentle husband, but he is the only mountain man I have ever seen who helped his wife with the housework. A nice once found him bowed over the washtub and expostulated:

"Why do you do it, Uncle Gene?"

"He straightened with conjugal pride. 'I reckon because your Aunt Sabina has red hair.'"

The little anecdote above also gives an idea of the mountaineer's ever-present sense of humor.

Of the mountaineer's idea of God, the author has to say:

"To mountain people, God is no far-off unreality.

"He is instant, immediate. 'His will is the explanation of every great event or smallest daily concern. They talk of him with no more self-consciousness than if they were speaking of the president of the United States."

"They may by no means always obey God, but they never doubt Him."

In the summing up the writer says: "I wish that many other Americans could know in her own high home place the American woman of the mountains. The mountain mother's life is harsh and hard.

"There is no thought here of any rights for women, except the right to bear and rear children.

"The mountain world is a man's world, where a woman's life is subject to her husband's needs and then to her son's. The mountain man expects everything of a woman and he receives it."

"The mountain woman never asks for happiness, and yet, as I look into her eyes, deep and quiet, with a gaze that has dwelt all her life on beauty, and as I meet her keen wisdom and shy, bubbling humor, I wonder if she has not found happiness without any seeking."

"Here in the highlands the God of the mountains has given the mountain woman dignity.

"Endless patience with many children has given her repose, a code of finest hospitality has given her beautiful courtesy. Mountain men are hard in their exactions on women, but perhaps it is because their women never fail these demands, so that the men no more than the children realize how much a mountain mother gives."

"And perhaps there is nowhere in the world a spot where women are respected as they are in the Southern highlands. A woman might tramp from end to end of all this region and never anywhere be in danger of the faintest insult from any white man."

"The mountain mother lives untouched by all modern life. In two centuries mountain people have changed so little that they are in many ways the typical Americans.

"And that is why it is worth while for other Americans to become acquainted with them. The past had its virtues, and the mountain mother today is not so much a woman belonging to a different geographical region as she is a woman belonging to a forgotten past."—Martin County Advertiser.

SMILING GIRL.

Undoubtedly a True Citizen of Orr, Ky.

Why Orr, Ky., is considered in lead of her adjoining neighborhoods. Because she has turned out 6 late school teachers, 3 traveling salesmen, 2 competent physicians, 4 splendid merchants, 2 carpenters of high standing, 10 of the best sorghum stillers and yet has a full supply of good material which, we older ones are training by their experience in hopes of reaching a higher and yet higher stage of development.

How we do it. Why yes; we hold Friday evenings in school days a lecture from different traits selected from the experienced ones, and our efficient teacher, J. W. Boggs, notes what ones to be achieved by the least efforts. In other words, "vocational training" is particularly the watchword. We have no scarcity of Biblical followers, no rarity of farmers, no shortage of supplies of any material, no insufficient endeavor on the craftsmanship of one's task; no scanty or superficial meditation upon the different way to lead one to success after they have grown with enough experience to enter the field of variety for our successive friends, who have succeeded past the "stumbling blocks" in nature's true pathway—and this recalls to me the poet's mind when he said: "For every sweet there is a bitter and every rose a thorn." I find but one fault to his maxim; he might have said 10 bitters and 10 thorns.

Now the fact that Time owns your victory or failure over life's phenomena, your success owes its thanks to some one for kneeling on their knees in the mud and picking you out of the ditch (and I'm glad that most of us mountaineers are of that composition; when one of our fellow creatures is down we pick him up, if he'll let us). You do this same favor to your passing friends.

We, Big Sandy inhabitants, owe all the respect, courtesies, our morsels of mind, and offer thanks to the Big Sandy News and we should show our appreciation by simply getting new subscribers for once a reader of the Big Sandy News always a reader.

Do you stop to think of the natural supply of resources the Big Sandians have within our bounds. Now, let's everybody get down to work thinking is entertaining to our minds as did the poet when he said: "I stood by and watched within myself the continual genesis of a finer life, wherein all appearances were transfigured as in a magic mirror." He, undoubtedly, made a self personal survey, which is always beneficial. Time has upon its wheels the buried yesterdays we can not recall.

Let us all join and stamp out our enemies of consistent progress and make Big Sandy the stamping ground for business. We have the start and are pacing along at a good headway and a clear, level road ahead. Join in and leave politics behind as it always interrupts good progress, especially amongst neighbors.

Some of the Daily Happenings.

There were 23 oil men enroute to the oil fields (according to J. W. Boggs and Jack Johnson's count) passed up our creek Saturday morning.

Wade Thompson is still traveling for Union Grocery Co. and Greenup Milling Co., and his success is stimulating to Orr's records, as he gets the business.

J. W. Boggs, merchant, has the ability for ordinary business within the bounds of reason and Orr's progress really anticipates a super business record for him.

L. B. Blevins, one of Orr's business men, was united in marriage Christmas night to Miss Effie Kitchen of Webbville, who is a very pretty young woman, neat in appearance, clever in speech, and Orr joins in with their sincere wishes to hope for them a happy life. Mr. Blevins is a shrewd business man, humiliated to the right always and his career has been an interesting experience. He was a former soldier.

Wade Thompson is a stock holder in Keaton Oil & Gas Co. and will soon be living at ease when his check comes in and a dividend is declared. He has three shares.

Calvin Blevins still makes regular trips to Dry Fork and J. W. Boggs also. We expect to hear wedding bells sooner or later at or near this place.

We stand as an emblem in our wishing realm, ready at any time to help the cause of good roads.

A TRUE CITIZEN OF ORR.

Reports from St. Louis, Mo., show that arrests for drunkenness in that city have dropped from 2,905 from Jan. 1, 1919, to Nov. 30, 1919, to 691 for the same period of 1920.

"IS WONDERFUL" SAYS OHIO WOMAN

TANLAC DID MISS SIEGWORTH SO MUCH GOOD SHE NOW SENDS IT TO RELATIVES IN ENGLAND.

"It is just wonderful how quickly Tanlac works in building up one all run down and suffering as I was," said Miss Anna Siegworth, R. F. D. No. 32, Barbours, Ohio.

"Nervous indigestion had almost made a wreck of me before I really knew it, and I was in a bad condition when I began taking Tanlac. Most of the troubles that go with a bad stomach, I had but little desire anything for food, and frequently would turn so sick at the table I'd have to leave it."

"What little I ate caused trouble to my stomach and hurt me all over. Sometimes I felt like I was loaded down with lead, and had such bad smothering spells I'd have to gasp for breath. I tried lots of medicines and just kept on going from bad to worse."

"Finally mother prevailed on me to take Tanlac, and then very soon all my troubles were over. It proved to be the very medicine I needed, and helped me right from the start. I've finished my fifth bottle now, have gained back eleven pounds of my lost weight, and feel even better than when I was six-teen."

"Tanlac is a grand medicine and I'm glad to tell others what it has done for me. I've just bought two bottles to send to relatives in England."

Tanlac is sold in Louisa by Mrs. J. H. Reynolds.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

A COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE AT EVENING TIDE.

The best brought up family of children we ever knew were educated on the principle of always commending them when it was possible to do so and letting silence be the reproof of any wrong doing which was not really serious. We have heard the children of this household, when their mother had failed to say any word of commendation after some social occasion, ask as anxiously as possible, "What was it mamma? I know something was wrong. Didn't we treat the other children well, or were we too noisy?" In that house reproof was never bestowed—only commendation of what ever it was possible to commend, was gratuitous. We think this system would be as good for those grown-up children, the husbands and wives, as for those still in the nursery.

If you love, love more. If you hate, hate less. Life is too short to spend in hating any one. Why war against a mortal who is going the same road with us? Why not expand the flower of life and happiness by learning to love, by teaching those who are near and dear the beautiful lessons? Your hands may be hard, but your heart need not be. Your form may be bent or ugly, but do you know that the most beautiful flowers grow in the most rugged, unsheltered places? The palace for care, the cottage for love. Not that there is no love in a mansion; but somehow if we are not very careful, business will crowd all there is of beauty out of the heart. This is why God has given the Sabbath and Saturday nights, that we may leave business and have a little heart cleaning.

Let us all remember that the higher and happier our home life, the more wisely and better we may hope to do the work that lies waiting for us beyond it. A pleasant place to come home to is the greatest energizer a man can have. Then let us strive with an earnest and constant purpose to make and keep the home cheerful, inviting and pleasant.

Man can build the house and roof it in, a resistance against the storms and elements; but the man with all his genius and artisan science cannot make the home; that ever has and ever will be the task of woman. It is she alone that can bring to it warmth and beauty. Here she reigns supreme.

When crepe on the door tells of a mother gone, only those who have moistened a mother's grave with their tears can fully understand and read aright the black threads in the bow.

Oh, make your home bright! Bring in the violin or the picture. It does not require a great salary or a big house, or chased silver or gorgeous upholstery to make a happy home. All that is wanted is a father's heart, a mother's heart, in sympathy with young folks.

Someone has truthfully said that nothing but a mint can make money without advertising. It might be added that the mint couldn't do it if it didn't put its competitors in jail.

He is a selfish being who, having trouble in his trade or calling or profession, always brings his troubles home for the purpose of making every one else miserable.

Times are not near so hard with some men when they want a plug of tobacco as when their wives ask for a pair of shoes.

Mingo County Famous As Fighting Ground

Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 2.—Since the early days when the first settlers from Virginia fought their way to the Western country against bands of hostile Indians, Mingo county, W. Va., and Pike county, Ky., just across its border, have been almost continuous battle grounds.

Mingo county's latest struggle is between the coal operators and the miners, but after a series of outbreaks which attracted country-wide attention, Federal troops are maintaining order.

After the early settlers had disposed of the Indians, the moonshiners took the field and for years fought and sometimes vanquished the hated revenue agents, protected as they often were against attack in the high hills and deep valleys that cover this section. Then came the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud of the '80s and '90s, which resulted in the practical wiping out of the McCoy family, and which caused two state Governors to take a hand in the suppression.

For some years after the feud the moonshiners again took the field and, although prohibition is now a law of the land, the "making of licker" has never been given up in these hills entirely.

Still another chapter of blood was written in Mingo when efforts were made this year to organize the coal miners. An unhappy climax came about in Matewan, W. Va., on May 19, 1920, when in a fight in the streets 10 men were killed, 7 of whom were guards of a private detective agency, sent into the district to eject union miners from company homes.

Since the Matewan fight Mingo has been the scene of other disorders, and railroad mining properties have been destroyed by explosives. Intermittent warfare between operators' guards and miners and their sympathizers followed in such proportions that recently Governor Cornwell, of West Virginia, called on the Federal Government for troops. When a provisional battalion was sent to Mingo martial law was declared here and several other towns and villages.

In the clashes in Mingo the names Hatfield and McCoy have figured prominently. In the Matewan fight Chief of Police Hatfield took part and later was indicted for murder. His trial is pending. In the week following a McCoy on a lonely mountain road was wounded by an unidentified assailant.

These fights have caused old settlers to hark back to the day when the Hatfield clan, following the killing of one of their brethren, under the leadership of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, swore what was known as the "Black Oath." The story is told that 20 members of the clan, kneeling around a camp fire in the hills of Mingo county, pledged themselves to the absolute destruction of the McCoy family.

As a result men, women and children of the enemy clan found no mercy, and the feud became known far and wide as one of the bloodiest in the history of the mountains.

Strange to say, three of the detective guards who were killed in the Matewan fight this year were descendants of state guards and officers who were sent into Mingo in the early nineties to put down the feud.

With the Federal troops in the section, the county, for the first time in many years apparently is in a fair way to obtain peace and calm.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

BECKY.

"I WILL" FOR 1921.

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed;

I will cease to sit repining o'er my ruthless neighbor's greed;

I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear;

I will waste no moment whining, and my heart shall know no fear.

I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise;

I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze;

I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread;

I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.

I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown;

I will not deny his merit, but I'll strive to prove my own;

I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine;

I will cease to preach your duty, and be more concerned with mine.

Exports Via New York Decrease; Imports Increase

New York.—Domestic exports valued at $3,119,580,884 flowed through the port of New York during last year. During the same period imports valued at $2,933,334,471 arrived in this port for distribution over the United States.

A comparison of the figures of 1919 shows that the export trade decreased approximately $231,000,000 while the import trade increased about $368,000,000.

Foreign exports, which reached the total of $117,975,916 in 1919, were shaded down to $81,965,715 during last year.

Price of Standard Pipe Cut $7.00 Per Ton

Youngstown, Ohio.—Republic Iron & Steel Company announces a reduction in price of standard pipe of $7 a ton, to the Steel Corporation level. Aside from pipe business, few new steel orders are coming into the valley, and prospects of additional suspensions and curtailments are likely.

Trumbull Steel Company has laid off hundreds of workers during the last week and has abolished many salaried positions. Sheet mills in the Mahoning Valley are operating at the rate of 20 per cent, while ingot production is around 40 per cent for the independents.

Decrease in Oil Runs Reported

Frankfort, December 31.—Unless there is a speedy increase in the production of oil in Kentucky during the first six months of the year of 1921 the indications are that there will be a decline in the production of oil in this state for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, as compared to the oil production for the year ending June 30, 1920. There are 250,000 bbls of oil fewer produced from July 1, this year, to January 1, 1921, than there were during the corresponding time last year. This falling off, however, is in a measure offset by the increase production of 154,000 bbls of oil for the first six months of the year, compared with the same period last year.

Lima, Ohio, December 31.—A decline in runs is already noted from the decrease of purchasing companies to take only 50 and 70 per cent of the oil, and production of the midcontinent.

THE FINANCIAL RECORD OF 1920

New York, Jan. 2.—If the financial markets ever witnessed a more interesting state of affairs at the close of a trying year the oldest Wall street habitué cannot recall it. The year just closed will be remembered chiefly for its constant credit strain, which at times became so serious as to threaten a money market disturbance of first magnitude, and which unquestionably would have developed but for the splendid safeguards of the Federal reserve system.

The 1920 money market, taking all classes of loans, probably averaged higher rates than any other 12 months in peace times. In the United States as in Europe, this was the overshadowing factor, for the credit strain was such as to force the Federal Reserve Board to put the country under a system of rationed credit during the greater part of the year. This caused irritation in some quarters, but those in touch with the facts of that extraordinary year know now that these measures were necessary, and that the supervision for the most part was highly intelligent, constructive and saved the December markets from a terrific smash.

A restricted credit policy for the United States of 1920 was just as necessary as was the effort to curtail food consumption during the war period. If limited food consumption was necessary to help the nation win the war in 1917 a properly regulated credit service which financed productive industry ahead of everything else was necessary in order to save this nation from a succession of Black Fridays in 1920. This is literally true, for the world-wide strain upon credits was greater than the banks of this country, or any other country ever experienced before over so great an area and for such a length of time.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Republican Tribute to Woodrow Wilson

William Allen White, noted Republican editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette pays the following tribute to Woodrow Wilson:

"There can be no doubt that the verdict of history on President Wilson will affirm his greatness. In great moments of crisis during the last eight years President Wilson has risen to real heights and has done worthy and memorable things. His name will stand in history either as the sponsor of a great hope or the recorder of a high tide in human affairs from which impotent humanity has receded.

"He, first of all world statesmen at the end of a ghastly world catastrophe, tried to make a settlement based upon justice, not on force, upon what should be rather than what could be. Either the League of Nations will rise during this century and work for peace on earth and good will among men, or it will fail, and in its failure will herald in such an epoch of horror that humanity in its decay will look back to the glorious dream which this man dreamed as the beginning of the wreck of nations and crash of civilization.

"In either event Wilson's name is safe. He aspired greatly; he strove with what strength he had, and with what weapons God gave him. He lost; his powers were not sufficient for his task. His hand was not as strong as his heart. He called the spirits from the vasty deep; but, alas, they did not come. His loss is mankind's loss. But even if he lost, he lost, losing, won. He is not the first Moses left in the wilderness, even though he stood by the burning bush; nor the first Isaiah to preach righteousness vainly to a wicked and perverse generation."

A man of the President's own party, an idolatrous follower, could have been no more magnanimous than this author and journalist who writes with an intimate knowledge of his subject.

Burley Tobacco Growers on Watch of Market

Lexington, Ky.—Burley tobacco grower officials of the association will watch the market which opened Monday, and it was announced if prices do not average up to the estimated cost of production, 35 cents a pound, the cooperative company recently authorized will be incorporated and take charge. A meeting of national and county officials will be held here finally to decide what action will be taken.

The market this year opens one month later than usual, due to the fact that the United States Department of Agriculture and state officials were asked to make a separate estimate of the burley crop.

Soldier is Fired on in Mingo Strike Area

Williamson, W. Va., Dec. 31.—A corporal of the United States army, carrying mail from Thacker station, Thacker, W. Va., late today was fired on by unidentified persons, according to reports received at military headquarters tonight. As soon as the report of the shooting was received, Col. Edwin H. H. in command of the provisional battalion in the Mingo coal strike district, rushed an additional patrol to Thacker.

100 PASTORS PRODUCED BY LITTLE KENTUCKY CHURCH

Bethel Ridge, Ky.—The little Methodist church here, its chapel seating a scant 350 persons, bears the unique distinction of having produced more than 100 Methodist ministers, according to the Rev. Ollie G. Ragan, superintendent of the Southeastern District of the Kentucky Methodist conference.

Most of the ministers were members of two families, the Ragans and Godbys.

The story of the little Casey county chapel and the family of ministers, for the Ragans and Godbys are closely related, goes back 150 years, according to the superintendent. At that time John Han was the Methodist circuit rider of the mountains.

An Irish family named Ragan lived in the Kentucky hills far from any church. The Rev. Han was called when the only child of the family died. The parents became such friends of the itinerant minister that they joined the nearest church and later children were educated in it and became ministers. From that time until the present their descendants have devoted their lives to the ministry, according to Mr. Ragan.

Among the notable ministers of the two families, virtually all of whom first attended church at Bethel Ridge, were the Rev. W. B. Godbey, noted in the mountains as a holiness leader; the Rev. W. H. Ragan, the Rev. G. G. Ragan, his son, J. G. Ragan, for forty years a mountain preacher, and the Rev. L. R. Godbey. The Rev. J. G. Ragan had four sons, all of whom became ministers, and one daughter, who married a minister, the Rev. William Oakley. The sons of J. G. Ragan, all of whom are living, are: the Rev. W. B. Ragan, the Rev. J. S. Ragan, Ollie G. Ragan, and the Rev. W. H. Ragan. Other members of the family in the ministry include the late Rev. W. B. Godbey and the Rev. Logan Godbey.—Courier-Journal.

USE OF NARCOTICS REDUCED.

Lexington, Ky.—The number of narcotic addicts in Kentucky has been reduced nearly 75 per cent in the past five years, according to Dr. W. S. Fish, Narcotic Inspector for the Eastern section of the state, who declared today that the State Board of Health had failed to co-operate to the fullest extent with the Government's efforts.

Dr. Fish cited the case of two physicians who specialize in treatment of addicts, who, according to Government records, five years ago had 111 drug patients under their care and this year have only four such patients. Dr. Fish said that five practicing physicians in the state had been cured of the drug habit within the past four months.

After January 1, 1921, all persons to whom drugs are necessary must be registered with the Government, Dr. Fish said. Approximately 200 violations of the narcotics act have been reported in this territory.

Crude Oil and Its Outlook Now the Problem

Huntington Girl Kills Deer in North Carolina

Honors of a deer hunt in the North Carolina mountains where a party of Huntingdonians spent ten days during the Christmas season, were carried off by Miss Ruth Hagan, 17-year-old daughter of E. Hugh Hagan. Miss Hagan bagged the only deer of the hunt. The hindquarters were brought to Huntington by the party Saturday night and there was venison for dinner at the Hagan home yesterday and also at the home of C. F. Millender, 601 Tenth avenue.

The hunting party was composed of Mr. Millender, his daughters, Helen and Louise and his sons, Alfred and Joe. The hunt was conducted on Mr. Millender's estate in North Carolina.

A number of deer were started but Miss Hagan was the only one lucky enough to get in a telling shot. She saw the animal, a doe, as it was making through a swamp. She had to run about a hundred yards to get to a point where she could shoot effectively. She used a double-barrel gun, carrying buckshot. The first barrel dropped the doe, but, taking no chances, she fired again.

An interesting circumstance in regard to the kill was that a veteran deer hunter was concealed nearby and had decided to shoot when the deer came two jumps closer. He was greatly surprised, he told Mr. Millender, when Miss Hagan's shot dropped the game. He had no idea of the presence of anyone else on the edge of the marsh.

The head and hide of the doe have been sent to a taxidermist, the former for mounting and the latter for tanning.

The Huntington party spent a few days on the coast duck shooting, and Miss Hagan, who had quite a reputation for marksmanship also bagged much of the game there.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

THREE CRAZY GIRLS.

Barboursville, Ky., Jan. 2.—The crude oil market is giving operators some concern. While there has been no change in quotations of the Cumberland Pipe Line Company, the Standard subsidiary which handles the greater part of Kentucky's production, it is said that some of the independent purchasers in Western Kentucky have made cuts. Production in that field is handled by half a dozen concerns, which have all along paid the same price as that commanded by Eastern Kentucky crude, $4.25 to $4.50 per barrel.

In field work there have been a number of worth-while strikes in the oil areas of Lee, Estill and Wolfe.

In the Big Sandy district there will be a shut-down by some operators until the worst of the winter is over. In the mountain districts of that field transportation of machinery from one lease to another presents the most difficult problem. In the Lawrence district it is announced that the Ohio Fuel Oil Company and Carter Oil Company will do no further drilling until better weather. The Johnson-Magoffin district is showing some activity, with completions each week in the five to twenty-barrel class.

Lima, Ohio, Jan. 2.—A cut in the Corning grade of crude oil goes to bear out the general impression among oil producers that it will not be surprising that the new year finds a decline in various grades over the country. At the same time, refiners at Louisville, Ky., cut 25 cents a barrel from the various grades of the Western Kentucky fields, bringing this rate down to $3.75 a barrel. In none of these cases a barometer established for the big fields of the country.

It must be remembered that this is a season when production exceeds consumption, and that at present prices, few pipe companies or purchasing agencies desire to store oil. The period for the accumulation of oil into steel tanks is similar to the period of accumulation in the stock market and always occurs at the time of big fields and low prices. The present situation is much different. While production in the Mid-continent is today in excess of demand of the season, it is not in excess of the usual demand for an entire year.

In other words, the drastic order of the pipe lines of the Midcontinent whereby they agree to accept only 50 per cent and 75 per cent of production, just about cares for the present demand. They do not care to take this other 50 per cent or 25 per cent and hold it in storage at the present prices, until demand resumes in the spring. It is not a question of not wanting oil; neither is it a question of their being too much oil, for it was not until late this fall that production overtook demand for crude of gasoline content.

RAT-SNAP comes in cakes. Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Louisa Drug Co., Louisa, L. F. Wellman, R. T. Berry & Son, Blaine, Frank Frasher, Fort Gay, W. Va.

Mr. Editor, you would not guess in a life time ye scribe was once assistant (?) of a big city daily, but not assistant editor. I was assistant of the whole staff from the managing editor to the end of the list, yea, even attending the type melting pot in the basement, have watched the big Hoe press (when the boss wasn't looking) roll out thousands of copies per hour and dreamed of Ben Franklin and Horace Greeley, but before I got a chance to "roll" the type the railroad bee began buzzing in our bonnet and we bid farewell to the tobacco smoke-laden office and hid me away out into God's country and fresh air. I have fraternized with the good people of the Old Dominion, I have seen giant plows drawn by gigantic tractors for the good of mankind. Dixie's Sun has tanned and the biting gales of thenorth have furrowed my brow and today finds me after a decade or two a "Jack of all trades" (and good at none?) We often reflect over the past and sometimes wish we had not "given up the ship." Great fortunes are always left by editors you know. We recently read of an editor who died leaving a fortune of $50,000, the fruits of thirty years of diligent toil and the death of an uncle who died leaving him $49,999.60.

Now, Mr. Editor, we wish you not only a happy and prosperous New Year, but many more happy and prosperous ones as well and when the last ad scene of all comes and the Great Architect of the Universe calls you from labor to refreshments, may you leave to posterity a fortune, not only of this world's goods but the love and respect of your fellowman, in comparison with which a few measly fifty thousands sinks into deep insignificance. MUTT.
